RACE ARE PILING UP

Flood of Noninations Still Coming in—Big Contest Still the Sensation of the Hour—Wherever You Go You Hear Auto Contest.

People Astonished by the Wealth of Rewards Offered to the Ladies of this Vicinity—People from all Portions of the "Northland" Interested—All Districts Well Represented.

The interest created by the announcement of the Brainerd Dispatch's MAMMOTH PRIZE CONTEST has surpassed all anticipations. The nominations in the big race are still piling up and the flood seems to have no end.

The biggest contest of the kind ever held in Northern Minnesota is still the talk of the hour. People are astonished at the value of the prizes offered in it.

Everyone wants to know all the minute particulars and conditions attached to it. People from every part of the Northland are interested. Still there is room for many more candidates in the race.

SEND IN YOUR NOMINATION

Send in your nomination and your friends will do the rest. You will find elsewhere in this edition, a nomination coupon which, when properly filled out and sent in to the Contest Manager, entitles the lady in whose favor it is drawn out to 100 votes.

Don't put off nominating yourself until tomorrow. Do it today. Those who make quick use of the moment are the geniuses of prudence. "She who hesitates is lost," is an old saying and a very true one, indeed. Do not hesitate. This is the opportunity of a lifetime that the Brainerd Dispatch is offering you.

Bear this in mind and send in your nomination and commence gathering votes.

ZIMMERMAN'S SHORTAGE GROWS

Abandoning City Clerk of East Grand Forks Trimmed up the Municipality Before he Left

At a meeting of the city council at East Grand Forks on Wednesday night a report on the shortage of C. P. Zimmerman, formerly city clerk was made.

After making a thorough examination of all books Clerk Gorman finds that the shortage is $7,375.71, of $3,457.93 more than the shortage found by the J. Gordon Steel company.

Gorman's report also showed that the full amount of Zimmerman's shortage was $13,718.97, but a large amount of this was covered by deposits in both local banks under the name of C. P. Zimmerman, city clerk.

The deposit in the First National bank was turned into the light fund, but the deposit in the First State bank still remains there, awaiting the final disposition of the matter.

According to the report of Clerk Gorman, the J. Gordon Steel auditors were completely fooled in auditing the 1908 accounts, as they reported everything in the best of shape with $407.29 to the good.

After Zimmerman absconded, Dec. 9, 1909, the books were examined again, and the auditors found that their original 1908 examination was wrong, reporting a shortage for that year of $495.17.

Mr. Gorman stated last night that from his examination of the books and records, Zimmerman was approximately $2,000 short at the end of the year 1908.

During this year is when he did his clever work in falsifying accounts, thus misleading the auditors.

Last night's report of the city clerk contained no criticism of former city officials, but he advised the council to pass a resolution providing for a complete examination of the records by the state examiner, so as to see who is at fault.

Th resolution was passed, and the state examiner will be asked to examine all the books, records and accounts.

Dr. Yate Trousers.

St. Catharine's was the first Cambridge college to produce a don who dared to stagger humanity by wearing trousers. He was Dr. Lowther Yates, "a large, square man from Cumberland," suspected of radical opinions, who was master of "Cat's" during the closing years of the eighteenth century. As Yates, when vice chancellor, walked in procession to the university church, wearing trousers instead of the orthodox knee breeches, somebody shouted from a window:

Gadzoons, gadzoons!

Lowther Yates in pantaloons! The profane impromptu poem was captured and proved to be Yates' own nephew. "Gadzoons!" was a Cumberland expletive, with which Yates was wont to express intense astonishment. —Westminster Gazette.

ing votes, and you are sure to become one of the winners.

Fairness and good faith will be the policy in regard to every Contestant; to each and all of them will be given an equal attention and a square deal. In this interesting race for prizes, aggregating in value more than the sum of $2,500.00, it is worth anybody's spare time and anybody's effort to be in this Mammoth Contest. The richness of the rewards and the liberality of its terms surpasses anything ever put before the people of Northern Minnesota. Not only is it rich in material value, but it will be singularly attractive to those who seek a musical and business education that means for the recipient the knowledge that means power.

THE MAMMOTH PRIZE.

The $1,050.00 Buick Touring Car is a treasure that, properly used and cared for, will last a lifetime and then some. The use and pleasure to be derived from a machine of this character is simply incalculable. There is no pleasure that is so cheap or varied as motoring. Then there are so many uses to which it may be put, for business as well as pleasure. This car is not a toy, but it is more use to a family than a horse and buggy, as a rule, and is also a very valuable possession.

"The Dispatch," the Model 10 Buick, the Mammoth Prize of the Contest is on its way to this city. It (Concluded on page six)

Henry Clay's Eloquence.

It was the remark of a distinguished senator that Henry Clay's eloquence was absolutely intangible to delineation, that the most labored description could not embrace it and that to be understood it must be seen and felt. He was an orator by nature. His eagle eye burned with patriotic ardor or flashed indignation and defiance upon his foes or was suffused with tears of commiseration or of pity, and it was because he felt that he made others feel. A gentleman after hearing one of his magnificent efforts in the senate thus described him: "Every muscle of the orator's face was at work. His whole body seemed agitated, as if each part was instinct with a separate life, and his small, white hand, with its blue veins apparently distended almost to bursting, moved gracefully, but with all the energy of rapid and vehement gesture. The appearance of the speaker seemed that of a pure intellect wrought up to its mightiest energies and brightly shining through the thin and transparent veil of flesh that invested it."—St. Louis Republic.

Cleanliness in Persia.

The Persian spends hours in the "hammams" (Turkish baths), which are very handsome buildings decorated with tiles and embellished with numerous exhortations as to the value of cleanliness. The smallest village in Persia has its "hammam," and bathing is almost a religious function. When the hot room and massage are finished the Persian is shaved, and the whole top of his head is likewise shaved, though the hair over the ears is left and allowed to grow down to the neck. This strange coiffure has a religious meaning, for the two locks on each side of the head are meant for the angel of death to hold when he carries the believer to paradise. All Persians dye their hair with a mixture of henna and vesmel, and the hair dyeing is the last part of the bath, but tea and smoking are indulged in afterward, and the frequenters of the "hammams" find them very pleasant lounging places.—Chicago Journal.

A Whale's Breathing.

An eminent naturalist says concerning the breathing apparatus of the whale: "The windpipe does not communicate with the mouth. A hole is, as it were, bored right through the back of the head. Engineers would do well to copy the action of the valve of the whale's blowhole. A more perfect piece of structure it is impossible to imagine. Day and night, asleep or awake, the whale works its breathing apparatus in such a manner that not a drop of water ever gets down into the lungs. Again, the whale must of necessity stay a much longer period under water than seals. This alone might possibly drown him, as the lungs cannot have access to fresh air. We find that this difficulty has been anticipated and obviated by a peculiar reservoir in the venous system, which reservoir is situated at the back of the lungs."

Earthquake in California.

San Bernardino, Cal., May 13.—A sharp earthquake shock frightened the people of the entire valley. The first shock was a heavy one. It was followed by several tremors and a deep rumbling that created terror. No damage has been reported.

F. AUGUSTUS HEINZE.

Acquitted of the Charge of Misapplying Bank's Funds.

HEINZE FOUND NOT GUILTY

Acquitted of Charge of Misapplying Funds of Bank.

New York, May 13.—F. Augustus Heinze was acquitted in New York of charges of misapplying the funds of the Mercantile National bank while he was president of the institution in 1907, and he was cleared of the charge of overcertifying the checks of his brother's firm, Otto Heinze & Co.

This failed the federal government's attempt to hold Heinze responsible for financing during the panic of three years ago alleged to be in violation of the national banking laws. Charles W. Morse got fifteen years for "bank wrecking," but Heinze's transactions were held legal, notwithstanding the prosecution's attempt to prove him a gambler with millions not his own.

KING GEORGE NO LONGER IS IDLE

British Ruler Has Plenty of Work to Do.

London, May 13.—From a life of comparative ease and retirement, King George suddenly finds himself one of the hardest worked officials of the kingdom. In addition to spending considerable time daily at Buckingham palace, comforting his widowed mother, he has to attend the multifarious duties connected with receiving and entertaining the royal guests and arranging the difficult details of the lying in state and the funeral.

Seven o'clock each morning finds his majesty at his desk in Marlborough House, to reply to the innumerable messages of condolence and to receive his ministers and the officials who have to do with the obsequies. He had a long special interview with John Burns, president of the local government board. The afternoon he spent with the queen mother, and in the evening he went to the station to meet and escort the king of Denmark to Buckingham palace.

Roosevelt to Meet the King.

Ex-President Roosevelt, who has been named as special envoy of the United States to attend the funeral of the late king, will be presented to King George soon after his arrival in London on Monday. This has been arranged in conformity with the wish of the king, as expressed to Whitehall, the American ambassador. Mr. Roosevelt, as special ambassador, will occupy a place with the visiting monarchs in the funeral procession and will also attend the burial at Windsor. The cortege will include King George and all the foreign sovereigns on horseback, and the queen mother and the royal ladies in carriages. The body will be received by the members of the house of lords and the house of commons, while the choirs of Westminster abbey and the chapel royal, and the band of the Coldstream guards will take part in the musical services. When the funeral procession starts on Friday every traincar in London will come to a standstill for a quarter of an hour. It is also proposed that all the public houses in London should be closed while the procession is passing.

Fatally Injured by Horse.

St. Charles, Minn., May 13.—Eli Hull, a prominent citizen of St. Charles, was probably fatally injured on the farm of Fred Roberson, one mile south of Utica, by an unruly stallion. The animal struck Mr. Hull on the head, knocking him down and trampling on him. A knee was broken and the victim suffered numerous bruises about the head and body. It is feared he is internally injured.

An Easy Cure.

A correspondent for a local paper writes that his sister sent him four fun lines which are guaranteed to cure any case of strenuousness in the family. The lines are to be repeated three times heartily in the face of any domestic difficulty. Here they are:

The dog is in the pantry;
The cat is in the lake;
The cow is in the hammock.
What difference does it make?

IN DEFENSE OF THE TARIFF LAW

Administration Preparing to Fire One More Broadside.

TAFT WILL TOUCH THE MATCH

President Soon to Deliver an Address Upon the Subject—Four Expert Statisticians at Work Compiling Returns of the Revenue Produced by the Payne-Aldrich Law and Comparing Them With the Revenue Produced by the Dingley Act.

Washington, May 13.—The administration is preparing to fire one more broadside in defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. President Taft will touch the match in an address soon to be delivered. For weeks four statisticians, considered among the best in the government service, have been at work compiling returns of the revenue produced by the Payne-Aldrich law and comparing them with the revenue produced by the Dingley act. These returns are made schedule by schedule and will cover a period of at least six months. Originally it was the intention of those in charge of the work to make a comparison for three months only but later the plan was changed so that the six months' operation is to be included.

According to the daily cash statement of the treasury, the Payne-Aldrich law has been a much better producer of customs revenue than its predecessor.

Statement Not Analytical.

This statement, however, is not analytical, dealing only with totals. The investigations of the statisticians are being made schedule by schedule and will show up the strong places as well as the weak one.

The statisticians were put to work in the belief that the comparison would be favorable to the present statute and the president's broadside was planned upon that conjecture. It was asserted, too, that in case the figures were favorable they might be used as campaign material next fall.

If the labors of the government statisticians of the tariff schedules prove that, taking it all in all, the Payne-Aldrich law is inferior to the Dingley law it is extremely unlikely that the president's contemplated oration will probably never be delivered. At present, however, government officials are hopeful.

WILL FARM IN MINNESOTA

Belgian Count and a Millionaire to Engage in Dairying.

St. Paul, May 13.—That a good example be set the rest of the nobility of Belgium Count Leopold de Rabiano arrived to take up land in Minnesota and engage in the dairying industry. He and thirty-five other Belgians, including a millionaire, Henry Van Meerdeek, came from the East in a special tourist car. After spending a few hours at the Union depot, where they enjoyed lunch, they proceeded to their future home near Radium, Minn., between Thief River Falls and Warren, Minn.

This party is the advance guard of many settlers which the Minnesota Catholic Colonization society will bring to this state from Belgium. Most of the people who arrived have means, possessing sufficient money to buy farms. The count and the millionaire have brought hired help with them and are fitted out to begin farming operations without delay. What wealth the count has was not disclosed, but he owns a number of quarters in Belgium and lived in a castle.

COW IS CAUSE OF TRAGEDY

Wisconsin Woman Shoots a Hotel Keeper.

Ladysmith, Wis., May 13.—A cow was the cause of a tragedy near here. A. A. Pierson, the owner of the Hotel Arthur, west of this city, being shot by Mrs. Mike Mikaski in a quarrel over a wandering bovine.

The hotel owner objected to the Polish woman pasturing her cow on land owned by him, and quarrels have been numerous. Finally the woman and her husband became involved in a bitter quarrel than ever before with the hotel man. When Pierson began making threats while standing in front of the Mikaski house the woman ran into the house and emptied a shotgun into his body. The woman and her husband are both in jail.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS AT MINOT

New Water System Saves Business Section of City.

Minot, N. D., May 13.—The north end of lower Main street was destroyed by fire, which was only prevented from spreading to the business portion of the city by the splendid pressure furnished by the new water system.

The total loss on the buildings, which were owned by E. F. Tompkins, is estimated at $20,000, insured for a third of its value. The loss on stock amounts to $6,000, partially insured.

STYLES HIMSELF PRINCE.

J. G. E. W. Guelph, Vice Claims Dead King as His Father.

ASPIRES TO BRITISH THRONE

J. G. E. W. Guelph Claims Dead King as Father.

New York, May 13.—"I knew for some time that father was going to die," said Prince John, otherwise John J. G. E. W. Guelph, as he posed for his photograph in a Brooklyn boarding house. "Yes, I was afraid he was doing too much. Poor father! I wish he could have lived longer. I am sure I could have convinced him of his errors in not acknowledging me as his son and heir."

When the news of the death of King Edward reached New York, Guelph came out from his Brooklyn boarding house retreat and announced once more that he was the son of the dead monarch and heir to the British throne. Maybe he is. He looks more like an Indiana preacher. But Prince John does not favor the actions of ministers. He is sure they are far too dignified when it comes to a man taking a glass of spirits.

Prince John has been the guest of various hotels in New York and other parts of the country and has left with more or less speed per the request of indignant hotel detectives.

Within the next fortnight Prince John declares he will sail for England and present such overpowering evidence to King George that he will be taken into the British household.

"I am the son of King Edward," said Prince John, "and I can prove it." He has a couple of servants, who refer to him as his highness. But how John makes his living is somewhat of a mystery. He won't tell, and no one else knows.

LECTURES ON "THE WORLD MOVEMENT"

Colonel Roosevelt Delivers an Address in Berlin.

Berlin, May 13.—Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the United States, delivered a lecture on the topic, "The World Movement," at the University of Berlin and received from the university the honorary degree of doctor of philosophy. Emperor William honored the occasion by his presence.

It was the first time his majesty had graced a conference and the courtesy was significant in view of the fact that the German court is in mourning for the monarch's uncle, King Edward.

In his lecture the ex-president made the following points:

"Modern civilization is so highly geared and the play of forces is so rapid that there is danger of a breakdown, similar to that which overtook older civilizations."

"Greek and Roman civilization were built upon slavery, the modern upon freedom, this being the principal point of difference."

"Tendency to luxury and loss of virile fighting force is still the greatest menace to modern civilization, as it was of the ancient."

"Hope for the future lies in the cultivation of the homely virtues, the foundation of which is the family. This and the power of working together for the common good will enable modern nations to avoid the pitfalls which destroyed those of the past."

"Increasing rapidity of communication and machinery which should help to bind the nations of the world together for the world movement of civilization."

A Poverty Stricken Queen.

Partly owing to the fact that she was wedded to an avaricious king and partly because she was generous with the little money allowed her Elizabeth of York, queen of Henry VII, spent but a small amount for dress. She was very often in debt, and the sums she spent were ridiculously small, 20 shillings ($5) being the greatest amount expended at any one time. Her gowns were mended and turned, and new waists were made for them, as is shown by the record of bills paid

MINNESOTA WOMAN PRESIDES

Takes Charge of Meeting of Club Women.

Cincinnati, May 13.—Minnesota was much honored when the president, Mrs. Moore, turned the meeting of club women over to Mrs. George O. Welch of Fergus Falls, who presided during the evening programme. Mrs. Welch was very smiling, although she had spent the day writing a hasty report of her treasurership, having been robbed of her money and papers the previous night.

The convention has been agog all day with this bit of news which got out in spite of strenuous efforts on the part of the board to suppress it.

Mrs. R. P. Williams of Massachusetts reported for the health department of the civic committee and devoted most of it to what the general federation has done in the cause of anti-tuberculosis work. She paid a tribute to Montana club women, who are earning the money to build a sanitarium.

The great paper of the evening was that of Dr. Alvin Davidson of Lafayette college, whose subject was "The Drinking Cup in Its Relation to Health." He favored abolishing the common drinking cup.

Mrs. E. F. Moulton of Ohio reported on civics and told of the united work of the men and women for civic betterment.

FAIL TO OBTAIN ANY MONEY

Bandits Dynamite Safe of Bank at Dumont, Minn.

Dumont, Minn., May 13.—Three bandits entered the First State bank of Dumont, dynamited the safe, setting fire to the building, and made their escape without securing any money. More than $500 in paper money was destroyed by the overcharge of explosive used.

The citizens were aroused, but made no attempt to enter the bank. Shots were fired into the building by those who were near enough and this may have compelled the robbers to retreat.

The bank was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars by fire, which followed the explosion.

Leaving their tools on the floor the men left the bank by the rear exit and left town northward. Citizens fired several shots in pursuit of the men, but none of them took effect. No one was hurt.

No Word Received From Grand Marais, Minn.

COMMUNICATION IS SEVERED

Wireless Station at Duluth No Longer in Touch With the Operator in the Menaced City—Belief Prevails, However, That the Town Is Safe—Settlers Arriving at Two Harbors Suffer Terribly During Journey to Safety.

Duluth, May 13.—Grand Marais, the little village on the north shore, threatened with destruction by forest fires sweeping upon it for several days, is entirely cut off from communication with the outside world and its fate is unknown.

The wireless operators here announced they were no longer in communication with the operator at Grand Marais, and said a breakdown in the apparatus had caused a complete suspension of messages with the beleaguered town.

Fears here are lessened as to the town's safety, however, and it is believed it will escape destruction.

Conflicting reports came to Duluth from the north shore as to the fate of the towns of Lutzen, Rosebush and Chippewa. They are generally believed here, however, to have been destroyed. Communication by wireless was established with the Booth line steamer America, proceeding slowly down the north shore to Duluth from Port Arthur. She was able to report little of the condition of the endangered towns or the state of the fires along the shores, which are still shrouded in dense smoke.

Except for this intelligence, no news has been received direct from the north shore. Owing to broken lines of communication, details of the fires raging on the north shore of Lake Superior are extremely hard to get.

On the iron range the fires are not considered as bad, although a strong wind has been blowing all day. Even though fighting fires and for a time the city pumping station there was in danger. By the heroic efforts of the fire department and the citizens it was saved.

Settlers from Split Rock, a few miles up the shore from Two Harbors, began straggling into that city, some terribly burned and scorched, leaving behind them their burned houses and property. Many of them had time to dig holes in the ground in which they buried their household goods before leaving.

Settlers Suffered Terribly.

On the way to Two Harbors the suffering of these settlers was terrible. Carrying their children, whose eyes were bandaged to keep them from being destroyed, the farmer folk were many times in danger of swift suffocation in dense furies of flames and smoke.

At one time in the afternoon the suburbs of Duluth were threatened. Fires crept up into Lakeside and demanded the attention of the fire department for several hours before they were subdued.

His tireless energies in fighting the brush fires which surrounded his little farm proving unavailing, Joan Praugh, an old settler living alone on a small patch of land two miles from Lakewood on the lake shore road, untethered his three cows and one calf, picked up a half dozen of his chickens, and hurriedly evacuated the choking smoke which had killed his flock of forty hens and roosters, and barely escaped out of the mass of flame which by this time was consuming his little dwelling. He reached Duluth in safety.

His wife, however, and his baby, he has been forced to stay on account of the forest fires, Charles Case, a homesteader living near Skibo, was brought down to Duluth and placed in the country jail. He will be taken before Probate Judge Middlecott to be examined as to his sanity.

Case and his brother live on homesteads almost in the center of the fire zone. For many days they have been battling with the fire and smoke in a futile effort to save their claims. Working day and night they were unable to stem the onrushing flames and now the fire is in their timber and the complete destruction of it is almost inevitable.

Charles Case was "game." He fought just as long as he could stand. His eyes are red from the heat and smoke and the hair on his head is singed. Weakened from his incessant mental and physical efforts his mind failed. He began to believe it was he who had started all the fires doing so much damage in the northern woods. He told this story to a number of the other fire fighters.

Fearing that he would do himself harm his brothers had him brought to Duluth.

Saw Mill and Stock Burned.

Whinnip, May 13.—Burrows' big saw mill at Grandview, Minn., with large quantities of stock, was destroyed by fire. The loss is $100,000.

Forest Fires in Wisconsin.

Cumberland, Wis., May 13.—Forest fires are raging northwest of here in Polk and Burnett counties. Six farm houses were burned northwest of here and many more are threatened. Farmers are all busy fighting the fires.

LOTS, LOTS, LOTS OF LOTS IN ALL PARTS OF THE CITY

Last week we sold 19 lots in N. E. Brainerd, but we still have about 50 left, all good bargains, and the owner says close them out at about one half their value. Size 50x140 feet to an alley. Price $40.00 to $60.00 each, on easy monthly payments.

Two nice lots on North 3rd St. $400 cash for the two.

We have a few calls to EXCHANGE Brainerd city property for good farm lands. What have you to offer? Come in and lets talk the matter over.

NOW, THE LORD WOULD NEVER HAVE GIVEN ADAM AND EVE THE EARTH IF LAND WAS NOT ABSOLUTELY THE BEST INVESTMENT.

We have such a large list of both improved and unimproved lands that we haven't time just now to quote it in detail, but if you are interested and will call, or write us we will furnish you with one of our FREE MAPS of Crow Wing County, and give you checkings and prices.

NOW, "LET'S GO FISHIN'"—We have some great bargains in lake fronts on Pelican, Edwards, Cullen, Long, and other lakes, where both land and fishing is good and our prices are right.

FARMS FOR RENT—One right close into the city limits. See us if you want to get back to the land, produce something and solve the High Cost of living.

SIX GIRLS AND TWO BOYS DEAD

Lose Their Lives While Boating at Huntington Mills, Pa.

LEAKY BOAT THE CAUSE

Transfer of Girls From Unsafe Craft to the Better Boat Results in the Latter Sinking From Being Overloaded—One Boy Makes Heroic but Futile Effort to Save Drowning Girl.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 13.—Eight high school students, six girls and two boys, lost their lives while boating on what is known as the Old Paper Mill dam at Huntington Mills, about twenty miles below this city. The dead are: Maud Sutcliffe, Townline; Caroline Koons, Harveyville; Ruth Bonham, Townline; Iris Davenport, Watertown; Rachel Thompson, Town Hill; Madeleine Good, Watertown; Robert Minnich, Koonsville; Ray Dodson, Fairmount.

Twelve students of the Huntington high school secured two boats at the noon hour and started for a row on the dam. The dam is nearly half a mile in width, and when the two craft had reached the center of the body of water it was noticed that one of them was leaking. The two boats were then pulled together by the young men in the party and an effort was being made to transfer the girls from the leaky boat to the safer craft.

The last one of the party had scarcely set foot in the boat when it began to sink, owing to the combined weight of the party.

The girls were helpless to save themselves, and the boys of the party with the exception of Dodson, being expert swimmers, struck out for the shore, which all reached in safety.

Minnich, in the excitement, it is presumed, thought that all the young women had succeeded in reaching land. He had no sooner gained the bank than he noticed the girls hanging to the rapidly sinking boat. The boy dashed into the water and swam swiftly to the water-filled craft.

Only two of the girls were clinging to the boat, the others having gone down for the last time. Seizing Miss Davenport, Minnich again started for the shore, but the exertion was too much for the gallant lad, and the two went down together, when they were within a stone's throw of the bank.

WORST FIRES IN MANY YEARS

Millions of Feet of Lumber Have Been Destroyed.

Fort William Ont., May 13.—Tens of millions of feet of lumber have been and are being destroyed by forest fires raging in Western Ontario and Northeastern Minnesota for the past ten days.

Reports arriving here indicate that while the devastation has in some instances been exaggerated loss to timber men and farmers exceeds that of any previous series of fires in years.

A long distance message from Stanley, west of here, said fires in that and the Silver Mountain district had abated. So far as is known there has been no loss of life.

Fanned by heavy winds flames raged there for several days, reducing great areas of magnificent timber land to charred stumps. Local timber men say they cannot even estimate the loss.

Officers on the passenger steamer America, which arrived from Duluth, say timber lands are burning for scores of miles along the north shore of Lake Superior. The steamer stopped twenty minutes at Grand Marais, but no damage has been done to the town.

PROVISION FOR HIGH DAM

Proves Satisfactory to Representative Stevens.

Washington, May 13.—There need be no cause for alarm on the part of authorities of the Twin Cities that St. Paul and Minneapolis will be required to enter into competition with corporations for power created by the high dam proposed to be erected in the Mississippi river, according to a statement made by Representative Stevens. Mr. Stevens had a long talk with conferees on the river and harbor bill and is now satisfied with the high dam provision as it has been agreed upon.

It is the belief of Senator Nelson, chairman of the conference committee, and Representative Alexander of the house committee on rivers and harbors, that if St. Paul and Minneapolis comply with conditions in the bill that they will be supplied with power at a "reasonable cost." The conditions are that the cities shall cede to the government park lands that will be needed for floodage purposes in connection with the dam. This done, Mr. Stevens announced after his talk with the conferees, the engineers will fix a rate for the cities and the state university, and the surplus power will be turned over to the highest bidder.

The First Telegraph Line.

After the formal opening of the first telegraph line built for commercial purposes between Washington and Baltimore Professor Morse and his associates offered to sell the invention to the United States government for $100,000, but the price was considered too high. The government had appropriated $30,000 toward the construction of the Washington-Baltimore line, but after a short period of operation the postmaster general, to whom President Polk had referred the matter, wrote, "Although the invention is an agent vastly superior to any other devised by the genius of man, yet the operation between Washington and Baltimore has not satisfied me that under any rate of postage that can be adopted its revenues can be made to cover its expenditures."

PLANS OF THE SOCIALISTS.

Reform Ideas of Milwaukee's Newly Elected Mayor.

NO BOSSES BUT THE PEOPLE.

Emil Seidel Proposes to Get Better Service From Street Railways—Will Make Corporations Pay Share of Taxes—To Improve Lot of Workmen.

"There is not the slightest reason for any fear that there will be any harmful result to legitimate business interests as a result of Social-Democratic control of Milwaukee," said Emil Seidel, Milwaukee's newly elected Socialist mayor, the other night when asked what the program of the Socialists would be.

"There will be no Utopia, no millennium, none of the wild antics that our opponents have charged to us. There will be no party bosses, no one man policy. When we decide upon a course to pursue there will be conferences with the other Socialists elected, and the best lines will be followed. We shall give every one in the party a chance to be heard and to voice his sentiment.

"Socialism has been given a chance to show its merit. We can do this by insistent and consistent conservatism. In a way we are on trial and will show the people of what metal we are made.

"I find that the great question that seems to trouble business men is what will be done in relation to the local street car situation.

Business Men Need Have No Fears.

"We propose to have cleaner cars, no overcrowding, streets sprinkled between the tracks, and we hope for a three cent fare, cheaper gas, municipal ice and light plants and cheaper bread. We will do nothing, however, that is not for the best interest of the whole city, and when any matter relating directly to the people of the city comes up which the Social-Democratic officials believe should not be decided by themselves there will be referendum to the people.

"Business men need have no fears. We shall do nothing contrary to good government to alienate the splendid support given us by men in all walks of life.

"The first step of the Social-Democratic party will be to reassure the people and relieve their minds of any fear that our victory means an entire overturning of present business conditions. The talk of war on the business interests of the city is like the other wild tales that the old party leaders have told the people would result from our success.

"We are not planning to do anything to injure the best interests of the city. It is true that we have many plans for the improvement of conditions. We shall make the corporations pay their share of the taxes and shall improve the condition of the laboring men of the city. But we will not do anything revolutionary. That would turn sentiment so strongly against us that we would not even accomplish the good that we can by being conservative.

To Give Good Government.

"The election was not the result of one campaign. It is the victory that comes to a cause after twenty-six years of the hardest kind of work. We have flooded this town with literature and have had men on the stump in and out of campaign times educating the workmen to the opportunities that lay before them. We have not promised the workmen or the city at large an immediate panacea for ills. We have promised the best government that we can give, and we are going to live up to that promise."

Victor L. Berger, whose reputation as a Socialist leader extends throughout the United States, had this to say about the election:

"This victory marks a new epoch in American history, and any man or woman who has helped to bring it about will naturally feel proud. This is nobody's personal victory. It is not Seidel's; it is not Berger's victory. It is a victory for a principle, a victory for progress, a little step toward a higher phase of civilization."

The completed return of the election show that the Social-Democrats have practically complete power in the city for the next two years. Seidel, for mayor, got 7,109 plurality. Seidel's plurality is thus the largest in the history of Milwaukee's municipal elections of 1888, when David S. Rose, Democrat, had 7,849.

The total vote was as follows: Seidel, 27,622; V. J. Schoenecker, Jr., Democrat, 20,513, and Dr. John M. Baffel, Republican, 11,262.

The new council consists of twenty-one Social-Democrats, ten Democrats and four Republicans. In the new board of supervisors there are eleven Social-Democrats, three Republicans and two Democrats. The Social-Democrats also elected two out of seven city judges, while ten bond questions providing for various city improvements carried.

An analysis of the vote shows that many Republicans and Democrats supported the Socialists.

More Interesting.

"Were you interested in that account of the Washington man who suddenly disappeared?"

"Well, I'd have been more interested in an account of a man who gradually disappeared."

Two Signs.

"To snuff a candle out accidentally is a sign of marriage."

"Yes, and to turn down a lamp intentionally is a sign of courtship."

One thorn of experience is worth a whole wilderness of warning.—Lowell.

YOUNG ITALIAN'S AMAZING CLAIM

Asserts He Can Visualize Objects at a Great Distance.

AS FAR AS 20,000 MILES.

Rochester (N. Y.) Inventor Has a "Televizualizer" With Which He Believes He Can Perform Marvels. Will Reproduce Color Effects, Dimensions and Movements.

"The invention which I have made and the apparatus which I have succeeded in putting together are sufficient for me to make the assertion that I can visualize an object at a distance of thousands of miles. The object can be seen with its properties of color effects, dimensions and movements and will be equal to the original with the exception that the object itself cannot be felt with the fingers."

Such is the remarkable claim made by William Vincent Prusino, a young Italian living at 72 South Union street, Rochester, N. Y.

Prusino is not very communicative about his invention so far as going into details is concerned. At present he will deal only in generalities as to just what his device really is. He fears that some one will steal his invention. He was so oppressed by the thought of such a calamity that he even destroyed his model after he had given a demonstration for his own benefit. Now he says that he has received financial support, and he is engaged in reconstructing the model preparatory to having it entered and recorded at the patent office.

Telegraph Wires Used.

"The actual demonstrations made by me not many weeks ago," said Prusino recently, "have completely satisfied me that seeing at the distance of ten or twenty thousand miles is no more an impossibility; but, on the contrary, it is absolutely possible. I repeat that, thanks to my experiments, I have succeeded in demonstrating this to my complete satisfaction."

"Televizualizer" is the name that Prusino has given his device. While he will not tell anything about its exact nature, he admits that telegraph wires have to be used and that persons, objects and scenes can only be visualized where the necessary apparatus is set up at both points, which would correspond in telegraphy to the "sending" and "receiving" points. The televizualizer, however, is not a system of sending portraits by telegraph. Prusino claims much more for his invention, as he says he can reproduce the color, movement and various dimensions of the scene.

Some of Its Possibilities.

"Among the things that will be rendered possible by this mode of seeing," says Prusino, "is, for instance, the first night in a European theater by a person sitting in a New York theater auditorium, or if a New Yorker should like to attend a masquerade in Buenos Aires—well, I could not guarantee that he could join in the fun, but he would have the whole scene reproduced before him as vividly as if he were actually present."

"Battle scenes could no doubt be reproduced within a fraction of a second in the same manner unless the cannon balls happened to strike the instruments. There is no limit to what can be reproduced. All that is necessary is to have the apparatus set up at the scene which it is desired to bring before the eye and the necessary apparatus at the other end to visualize it."

Willing to Chance It.

Here the lecturer threw upon the screen the portrait of a man well known in the financial world, says the Chicago Tribune.

"This," he said, "is one of the great captains of finance. I do not need to mention his name. His face is familiar to all of you. Look at his corrugated brow, the furrows in his cheeks, the pouches under his eyes, the deep lines about his mouth. That face, my friends, bears the unmistakable and ineffaceable stamp of care. Anxiety has marked it indelibly. It shows the traces of sleepless nights, weary days and bitterly fought campaigns, with millions of dollars at stake. Success brings such a man no happiness. Look at him! How many of you, my friends, would change places with him? How many of you would be willing to take his wealth if compelled to assume the terrible burden of responsibility that goes with it?"

His hearers rose en masse.

"I would," they shouted in unison.

His Unfortunate Investment.

"It's astonishing," the old settler in the little town was saying, "how real estate has advanced in this town since I came here. The corner lot this building is on, for instance, sold once for $450."

"What is it worth now?" asked the stranger.

"Five thousand."

"Well, you had a chance to get rich by investing in land yourself. I suppose you bought some real estate?"

"Yes; I bought one lot—just one."

"That has increased in value, hasn't it?"

"Yes; over 600 per cent."

"That was a good investment."

"Not so awfully good, mister," said the old settler gloomily. "I paid $10 for it, and it's worth $75 now, but it's in the cemetery. The way I figure I've lost a heap of money by not dying forty years ago."—Youth's Companion.

WE ARE READY TO SHOW

you how it is cheaper to buy our high class building materials than it is to purchase the poorer kind. We can point to buildings built with our materials that never need repairs. We can point to some others that need repairs all the time. But they were not built of our materials. See where real cheapness lies?

The Crows and the Snake.
 "Strolling in Burma one day," says a writer in the London Field, "I came to a ditch bridge, and about ten yards off there was a mass of black soft mud caused by buffaloes rolling. On the bridge was a small brown snake about two feet in length. This snake is an ordinary jungle inhabitant and is very venomous. Surrounding him were a mob of some dozen crows. Whenever the snake attempted to escape the nearest bird would jump in and jerk it back by the tail. The crows generally kept just out of the snake's reach, but on three separate occasions the birds were struck.
 "Immediately on being bitten a crow flew over to the wet mud and swallowed three or four mouthfuls without a pause. It then perched up in a tree and took no further part in the fight. The incident ended in the snake escaping between the planks of the bridge. What interests me is why did the stricken birds eat the mud? Was it taken as a kind of antidote or what was the reason?"

The Rainbow.
 When a ray of sunlight falls on a raindrop it is refracted; then part of the light is reflected from the internal surface and again refracted on leaving the drop. The white sunlight is not only refracted when it enters and leaves the drop, but dispersion also takes place. The eye sees bright circles of light for each kind of light, and since sunlight is made up of different kinds of homogeneous light we get a series of circular arcs showing the spectrum colors, the red being outside and the other colors following in the order of descending wave length. The whole constitutes a primary rainbow. A secondary bow is sometimes seen outside the first. This is formed by the light being twice reflected inside the raindrops. The less refrangible rays are on the inner side. Rainbows due to still more internal reflections are too feeble to be observed. It is possible to get a white rainbow if the sun is clouded or if there is a mixture of raindrops of very different sizes.

Male Fashions in 1850.
 Male fashions of 1850 had other discomforts besides long hair. Trousers were tight and buttoned under the foot with broad straps. Every man who aspired to be well dressed wore his coat so high in the collar that the back of the hat rested on it. This fashion was so prevalent that, according to Sir Algernon West, "every hat had a crescent of cloth on the back of the brim to prevent the rubbing of the beaver or imitation beaver of which the hat was made, for silk hats were not then invented." And from the same authority we learn that "opera hats were unknown, and in the evening a folding chapeau bras was always carried under the arm. Nobody but an apothecary or a solicitor would have dreamed of leaving his hat in the hall of the house where he was calling or dining."—London Chronicle.

His Motive.
 "I understand that you never taste liquor."
 "No; I am thankful to say that I have always been abstemious."
 "Do you ever use tobacco?"
 "Never in any form."
 "You have always been strictly moral in every way, I suppose?"
 "Absolutely."
 "Say, tell me one thing. Have you been good because you found it satisfying to be so or because you hoped to be rewarded for your goodness?"
 "In the first place I was good because I wanted to marry my employer's daughter, and after I got her I had to be good to hold my job."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Caustic Retort.
 An Englishman of somewhat questionable reputation, who was criticizing the American way of spelling, once turned to Maurice Barrymore, the actor, and said: "I'll leave it to Mr. Barrymore. Is it right to leave out the 'u' in such words as harbor, neighbor, honor, candor, etc?" "Well, about harbor and neighbor I am not sure," replied Barrymore, "but when it comes to honor and candor I leave you out."

A Reminder.
 Small Edgar's mother had invited a few friends to tea, and the little fellow was warned to be on his best behavior. The conversation having become quite animated at the table, Edgar was forgotten. A few moments later his mother asked the servant for a plate, when Edgar said: "You can have mine, mamma. There ain't nothin' on it."—Chicago News.

FRIENDSHIP.
 A slender acquaintance with the world must convince every man that actions, not words, are the true criterion of the attachment of friends and that the most liberal professions of good will are very far from being the surest marks of it.—George Washington.

Downing Street, London.
 Despite its shortness Downing street, London, contains not only the prime minister's residence, but also the treasury, foreign office, colonial office, the office of the chancellor of the exchequer and that of the privy council. It was built on a swamp, and the ground under the big houses is sown thickly with age blackened wooden piles.

DIED SUNDAY IN CAMBRIDGE

Charles T. Gunderson, of Nokay Lake Town Died Suddenly in Southern Minnesota

WAS 50 YEARS OLD—UNMARRIED

Recently Sold Land in Brainerd and went to Southern Minnesota
to Buy More

A telegram was received this morning from the St. Paul Daily Dispatch stating that "Charles T. Gunderson, peddler, died in Cambridge, supposed Brainerd resident."

Inquiry about town elicited the fact that the deceased came to Brainerd about Sept. 17, 1901, when he purchased the SE 1/4 of SE 1/4 of section 7-44-29 from the Minnesota Park Region Land Co. He sold this land at a good profit in 1906. Gunderson, who was about 50 years of age and unmarried built a small house on this land and lived there until about a year ago. He bought another forty acre tract in section 9-45-28 in Bay Lake town and built a small house thereon. This land was sold by him recently and as it is in or near the iron finds, it is presumed he got a good price for it. He saw James M. Elder in this city and mentioned the fact that he would like to buy a small ten acre farm.

A week or ten days ago he had a conversation with George Fallon, carrier on rural route No. 2 and stated he was going to Cambridge or southern Minnesota to buy land. It is supposed he must have taken at least one thousand dollars with him.
County Auditor Smart remembered the deceased and said Gunderson was a man about 50 years of age, unmarried, who had not been in good health in recent years. The writer is unable to find out if deceased had any relatives.

As most of his effects and interests are here the body will presumably be sent here for burial and his estate administered in Crow Wing county.

How he Died

Special from the St. Paul Dispatch to Brainerd Daily Dispatch, May 13:
—Charles T. Gunderson, who lived near Brainerd and is believed to have been on his way to St. Croix Falls, Wis., was taken ill while on the road in the township of Springvale, Wednesday night. He went to a farm house and died there.

Sewn in his clothing was $418 in cash, mostly paper and gold. An inquest will be held.

TRENT SUCCEEDS MORRISON

George Trent is Announced as the Representative of the Remington and U. M. C. Companies

The Sunday St. Paul Pioneer Press
in its "Gun and Rod" department announces the departure of J. L. D.
Morrison for New York and the selection of his successor, George Trent of Brainerd, for the Remington and U. M. C. companies in St. Paul, as follows:

It is with regret that we announce the departure of Mr. J. L. D. Morrison from St. Paul. Mr. Morrison has gone to New York city, to reside there permanently. He is connected with the Latin-American Export company, 33 Wall street. For years Mr. Morrison was known as one of the best trap shots in the Northwest, and several years ago he left the ranks of the amateurs and joined the professionals. Up to last fall
Mr. Morrison represented the Remington Arms company and the U. M.
C. company in the Northwest, and demonstrated the goods handled by those firms. Last fall, however, he severed his relations with the above named concerns and devoted his attention to his law practice, until he became connected with the Wall street importers.

With the departure of Mr. Morrison St. Paul loses her best shot with a shotgun, a man whose ability as a marksman always was an advertisement for the city in which he resided. A few years ago Morrison was second among the professionals of the country, his old time friend and rival, Fred Gilbert, of Spirit Lake, Iowa, being first by a very small margin. Besides being a good man with the shotgun, Morrison was no tyro with the rifle, and many a moose has fallen before his unerring aim in the woods of Northern Minnesota, and last year he killed a black bear in the Rockies and captured two cubs.
Many a man in the Northwest will join with us in regretting the departure of Morrison, and we know they will also unite with us in wishing him success in his new line of endeavor and say, "Good-bye, Don,
and good luck to you."

The man who succeeds J. D. D.
Morrison as the representative of the Remington and U. M. C. companies in St. Paul is George Trent, of Brainerd, Minn., who is no stranger to this section. George is a good old scout, and if a willingness to work, desire to please and ability to shoot have anything to do with his game, George will make good. He steps into the shoes of a big man, but George is from Chicago when it comes to feet, and can fill a pretty big pair of brogans. We gladly commend George to the shooters of this vicinity. They will find him to be all right.

Nature of County Option Issue.

Editor Brainerd Dispatch:—
So far as political party action is concerned, county option is not yet, nor is it very likely to be a party issue. I therefore take the freedom to submit the following remarks for publication:

There are politicians in both our leading parties who refuse to party recognition on the claim that it is strictly a moral and not a political issue. There are others who claim it is an infringement on the rights of local self-government, and would fain ignore it. But neither of these claims is satisfactorily sustained, neither will the attempt or desire to evade the issue reflect favorably on the character or political standing and prestige of the leaders in either party.

Would I have it to party issue?
By no means. It is one of the encouraging indications of the growth of a healthy public opinion that it is not.
But I wish to state, and to emphasize the statement that it is a political issue and the political organization that will not take a stand on questions of such public interest, and that stand to be openly determined by a majority of those affiliating therewith, is not adapted to the needs and perpetuation of a republican form of government. As stated in a former article published in The Dispatch, I am not a prohibitionist, and am considering this question from a purely political standpoint.

The principles of our local self-government scheme may be stated something like this: Beginning with the smallest unit of municipal organization, the township or village, these have full power and control over matters affecting themselves only (subject of course, to state and federal laws protecting personal and property rights), matters affecting other towns or villages, or citizens of other towns or villages come within the jurisdiction of the county. And so with the county; matters affecting only itself belong only to the county, those affecting other counties, or citizens of other counties require the united action of affected counties, or come within the jurisdiction of the state government.
The same relation exists between the state and federal government.

Cities seem to have no place in this graduated relationship, but stand as it were, apart and in direct relation to the state by virtue of its special charter. But to claim that a city has such rights of self-government by virtue of its charter that it can create and maintain an environment directly affecting citizens of the adjacent country within the boundaries of a county of which the city is a constituent part, and the expense of which under our present system of taxation, the city being a part of the county, is very largely borne by the citizens of the country outside of the city limits, without giving affected citizens a voice in the matter, such a claim is simply preposterous. It is a claim for legal special privilege, pure and simple, and to say the least,

is undemocratic, un-American.

I would also remind the leading business of Brainerd that they have always had the privilege of a voice in the affairs of the county, and they have not been slack in improving their opportunity. As a matter of fact, Brainerd has been the whole push since the organization of the county, and Brainerd men think and speak of the business of the county as though they were the only parties affected. But the country people are being waked up from various causes, though they are yet just rubbing their eyes.

"With malice toward none; with charity for all, but with overruling desire or passion for Right and Justice."

Respectfully yours,
D. C. HENDERSON.

specialist of the Walman

Dr. Reid, of Deerwood, through his attorney, W. A. Fleming, secured an

of the district court temporarily restraining Humphrey from erecting and maintaining a livery stable in Deerwood. The matter will be disposed of in the district court.

Lion Fondles a Child.

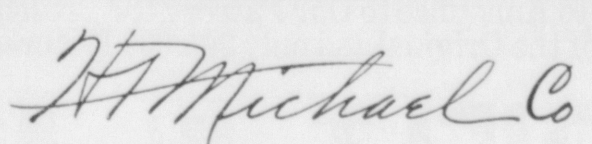

In Pittsburgh a savage lion fondled
the hand that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to a child is sometimes great when least regarded. Often it comes through Colds, Croup, and

A Magnificent Vessel.

In 263 B. C. Archimedes devised a marvelous ship for Hiero of Syracuse.
Her three lofty masts had been brought from Britain. Luxuriously fitted sleeping apartments abounded, and one of her banquetting halls was paved with agate and costly Sicilian stone. Other doors were cunningly inlaid with scenes from the "Iliad."
Stables for many horses, ponds stock-artificial rivulets and hot baths were provided for use or amusement.—

This is the only Motion Picture Film in existence depicting scenes and incidents of Roosevelt's Famous Hunting Trip in Africa. THIS IS THE ORIGINAL CHERRY-KEARTON FILM and MUST NOT BE CONFUSED WITH CHEAP, FAKE PICTURES. Every scene and incident was taken from the original Roosevelt party.

DON'T MISS IT—THE GRAND

Ze Game of Golf.

He had come over from France and had just been asked to give his views on the ancient game of golf. With much perturbation he did so.

"Ah," he said, "your game of golf! Yes, I know him. You put on ze tunic so red as ze Ingleshi rossie underneath done. You strap your sack of sticks on ze back of a boy twice so small as ze bag."

"He scrape a mud pudding to make balance a little white ball. He make three bad tries to balance him, then very angry you call aloud, 'Fur!' Then you what you call address ze ball, and, ma foi, your address is some times of language to make afraid."

"You strike, and ze ball find himself in ze long grass."

"You call aloud for ze nib longer stick and beat ze ground till your partner say, 'Ho, chuck it!' You say—But, my friend, I excuse myself to repeat what you say."

"Ah, my friend, you are a great nation, but your golf game gives me what you call ze pip!"—Pearson's Weekly.

A Wily Afghanistan.

A man was once condemned in Afghanistan to have his ears sliced off as a minor punishment. He had a powerful friend, however, who was much attached to him. This friend begged the late ameer in duly submissive tones to allow him to perform the operation, a favor which was granted. However, the amateur begged the ameer to show him what portion of each ear he wished to be removed. The ameer accordingly touched them lightly, whereupon the ingenious and courageous person proceeded to quote a passage in the Koran which said that anything touched by the representative of the Almighty became sacred. The despot smiled grimly and forgave them both.

ALL ABOARD FOR TRAIN OF SMILES

Trip to Mexico Planned by Society of Good Cheer.

OPTIMISM SEED TO BE SOWN

Throughout the Route From New York, the Glad Hand Will Be Extended Over the Car Platform—Special Songs and Music to Be Used.

Miss Theora Carter, president of the Society of Good Cheer, incorporated, returned a few days ago to New York from her organizing trip west and told of the latest plan of that interesting society. The Cheer Up club, founded in New York city only a year ago and started with the idea of cheering the convalescent sick in the large hospitals, is to make its mission of good cheer international. Arrangements are now being made for a special train to start from New York for the City of Mexico, all laden down with the sunny smiles of a hundred or so of the most cheerful people on the continent.

Will Extend the Glad Hand. When they reach their destination they will in effect tell President Diaz of Mexico to "Cheer up! The worst is yet to come!" But all along their route, which will include Chicago, St. Louis and most of the prominent cities of the middle west, they will be extending the "glad hand" over the car platform to every sad, dismal man, woman and child.

"The train will be decorated throughout," said Miss Carter, "with the colors of the society—red, white and blue—for every cheerful person is a firm patriot in this splendid country of ours. We are having special songs and music prepared for use en route. In all the large cities we shall hold public meetings and preach the gospel of cheerfulness by word and deed. In each town we shall try to visit some of the hospitals or take some poor little children out to ride or do something substantial to show that our faith is more than a philosophy of words. In the smaller towns we shall at least have speeches from the rear platform of the train. It will be like a crusade of old, only we shall carry a smile instead of a sword."

Any One May Join. "More than a hundred people here in New York and in Boston, Chicago, Seattle—all over the United States—have already promised to take this trip, and I expect many more to join. Our little society of a year ago is becoming a great movement. And next year we shall carry our work abroad, probably to England first. Any one may join us. All he has to do is to 'cheer up'—first himself, then somebody else."

The date for the departure of the "train of smiles" is not yet fixed, but will be announced shortly.
